A NEW BOOK CRASHES THROUGH THE GLASS CEILING WITH A REAL AGENDA AND REAL CHANGE

PUB DATE: October 2015

A passionate, well-intentioned exploration of the fight for women's equality, the barriers to achieving it, and strategies for working toward it. – Kirkus Review

“The Every Women’s Guide To Equality” by Carlynnne McDonnell comes at a time when women have begun to seize new opportunities and knock down all kinds of borders. McDonnell takes the momentum and runs with it.

Carlynnne McDonnell has been a passionate and outspoken proponent of social justice and equality for over 25 years. She has worked in fields considered non-traditional for women and has personally seen and been on the receiving end of inappropriate and unequal/inequitable behavior.

In her book, readers will truly understand that women should not ever settle for the status quo. She takes women to task telling them “we can no longer leave this up to the next generation to fix.” McDonnell asks and answers the tough questions that women have been hiding from for years while tackling the subjects of violence and rape.

In two of the industries in which she worked, male workers made sexual harassment and discrimination, and in some cases extremely inappropriate behavior, an art form. McDonnell’s experiences help her take on the workplace issue giving women honesty in that they can be on equal footing at the office.

In the 154-page book, McDonnell shares her beliefs that women can achieve more and go further if they are educated, smart and prepared. She says, “Real change for women can only be achieved with hard work, vigilance, and the commitment that our capabilities are limitless. We will forever remain unequal if we do not stand together and commit to real change in our lifetime.”

Carlynnne McDonnell has a Master’s in Public Policy and has been working in the corporate, education and non-profit worlds for over 30 years. She has presented workshops and keynotes on women’s equality, leadership development, organizational strategy on the national and local level with women’s organizations, college and universities and for the United States Marine Corps.
